EXCELLENT CONCERTS BY UNIVERSITY BAND

Splendid Program Most Ably Given at Myra Theatre on Sunday Afternoon and Evening.

Music lovers, particularly those partial to band music, missed a rare treat Sunday by not attending the concert given by the University of Wisconsin band of sixty pieces at the Myra theatre, afternoon and evening. Under the direction of Charles Mann, this splendid organization gave some of the most difficult selections in band repertoire in a manner that brought forth the applause from the meagre audience that greeted them. At a matinee, the students from the state institute for the blind were guests of Manager Myers and enjoyed every note of the thrilling music. The band is composed of entirely bona fide students of the University and plans to make a European trip next season, being booked by a New York agency. It is to be hoped that a second concert can be arranged during the next few months which should pack the house.

Sure!

Alderman Dowling of New York says that "if four or five women should sit in the window of a cafe smoking cigarettes a crowd of a couple of thousand people would gather about and block traffic." Sure! And if four or five men should stand in a store window and try on bonnets the crowd would also gather.

BEN GETS THE "CUE" TO KEEP QUIET!

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL
OVERPOWERS BELOIT
ON THE GRIDIRONJanesville Eleven Wins Easy Game and Letters By Defeating Beloil 43 to 5.

Beloit high school was literally swamped in the football game played at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon by the Janesville eleven.

At the end of the game the score stood 43 to 5 in favor of Janesville, and further slaughter of the visitors was only prevented by the time keeper's whistle calling off the game.

With the exception of one touch-down which Beloit snatched on a fumble by intercepting a forward pass, they never got close enough to Janesville's goal to distinguish the people on the end of the field. Only once did the local boys allow them to make a try, down and then they were too busy trying to figure out Janesville's plays to even think of carrying the ball themselves.

Despite the muddy field the Janesville boys pulled off all the plays in their calendar and with such smoothness and effectiveness did they work them that only the luck of time prevented a score of sixty instead of forty-three.

Edler played his usual star game, making three of the touchdowns by long runs and his defensive work fairly made the Beloit rooters cry. Capt. Korst also worked in three touchdowns, while Sutherland and Ryan each scored. Korst, Cannon, Davidson, Sutherland, French, and Kelly have played their last game with the high school and the team next year will be lacking some of the strongest men.

At the first whistle Ryan began the game by kicking to Beloit who were held for downs. On the first play Janesville started their game work by making a touchdown. Edler carrying the ball thirty yards from Beloit after Ryan had kicked the goal, and in a very systematic manner began making their way toward their opponent's goal, giving Edler the ball at last for a forty yard sprint to a touchdown. Ryan missed the goal. After Beloit had again kicked off and Janesville started the next trip down the field Captain Phelps of the visiting team intercepted a forward pass and made a touchdown which netted them the only points which they were able to score.

At the whistle for the second quarter Beloit punted out from their twelve yard line and Janesville again carried the pigskin down the field ending with a touchdown by Sutherland.

Janesville received the kick-off at the beginning of the third quarter and line backs and end runs, which worked with terrible effect against the Beloit line, carried them down toward the opposing goal and Ryan was pushed over for the fourth touchdown of the game, though he missed the goal. Korst made the next one after a thirty-five yard run and Ryan again missed kicking the goal. Though Beloit held Janesville during the third quarter for the only time throughout the game the ball was on their ten yard line when the quarter ended.

Korst carried the ball over Beloit's goal on the first play of the last quarter, putting out to Edler who kicked the goal. Edler made his third touchdown in this quarter and the eighth of the game after running fifteen yards.

No small part of Janesville's success was due no doubt to the enthusiastic rooting of the spectators who urged the boys on to keep up the slaughter even when the result was so evident. The boys themselves were pleased over the outcome of the game not because Beloit is an old rival, but also because by this they won the two-thirds of the games played which were needed to give them their "J's."

The opposing teams lined up as follows:

JANESVILLE BELLOIT
Kelly Lee L. E. Delhauss
Sherman T. C. Crounch
Dalton L. G. Morrison
Cannon C. Drenning
Williamson L. G. Fredericks
French, Davidson R. P. Castle
Sutherland, Smith R. J. Hauser
Edler R. H. Phelps, capt.
Connell R. H. Phelps
Ryan, capt. R. H. Phelps
Korst, capt. Q. H. Halston
Touchdowns: Edler 3, Korst 3; Sutherland 1; Ryan 1; Phelps 1.
Goals: Edler 7; Ryan 2.

Taken all together the Janesville team has made a very fine showing this year and the school will look back with pride on the team of 1911. They have won six out of the nine high school games played, several of them with big scores and held the Beloit second team which is far out of their class to one touchdown.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK TO COMENothing Unusual Being Developed this Week, Though Different Teams Are Organizing.

With the most successful manufacturers' exhibit ever held in this city, now over, the sport loving people who have enjoyed it to the fullest, yet longing for the time when basketball games will be played on the rink floor, are looking forward to something of sporting interest to appease their almost unquenchable appetite for witnessing something along the line of real sport.

While the coming week does not exhibit any unusual sporting events, it will undoubtedly be one of great interest to those who love exciting basketball, bowling, etc.

The Lakota Club have nearly completed arrangements in regard to the personnel of their representative team for the coming season, and the manager of the exceptionally good team states that the coming week will witness the completion of minor details and also that the team would commence practice at the rink at odd times during the coming week and the balance of the season. Furthermore, it is said, that some excellent games with outside teams have been arranged for, and during the winter the lovers of basketball will be given ample opportunity to witness some very good games. It is not definitely known just when the first regular games are scheduled but as soon as the schedule is completed it will be given out. With constant practice, as is planned, the Lakotas will have a very formidable team, and one that will prove exceptionally hard to defeat.

Basket ball at the Y. M. C. A. is the hope of the physical director, to get things into definite shape the coming week and he will endeavor to create more enthusiasm than ever among the different classes and get the teams associated more closely and have scheduled practice begun. Mr. Hartwell, the new director is a man well versed in basketball, and under his supervision, and with his hearty support, not only will the Y. M. C. A. as a whole have a good team, but each class as well will have excellent teams. A rivalry between the classes always runs high, it will cause each individual team to work harder and when occasional prizes for them to contest against each other, some hard fought and very interesting games will be the result. Although the work has been retarded considerably this season, the energy of the members of the various teams will offset this and work has begun and is being pushed harder than ever.

In spite of the fact that the contents of the rink the past week have caused much interest, the bowling league have been true to their colors and have been working with might and main, and without any slackening on their part, the teams have completed.

REHBERG'S

YOU should give this overcoat matter some quick attention, it's the "eleventh hour" of the season, and you should not make the old one "do" much longer. It doesn't pay. Your appearance is at stake, and that's something no man should risk, only millionaires can afford to dress shabbily, and you're probably not a millionaire. Men and young men ought to try on one of the overcoats from this great stock. We'll show you some wonderful values at $15, $20, $25.

World's Worst Penman.

Most remarkable among execrable writers have been John Bell, the barister of whom Lord Eldon said to the prince regent that he was the ablest equity lawyer of his time, though he could "neither read, write, walk nor talk." Bell was a cripple, and his Westmoreland accent combined with his stammer to make his speech unintelligible. The character of his writings appears from his own statement that he had three styles, one of which he could read but his clerk could not, while the second was intelligible to his clerk but not to himself, and the third baffled both of them. Something similar is told of Henry Ward Beecher, whose daughter, acting as his copyist, had three chief rules—that no dotted letter of his was meant for an i, that no crossed letter stood for a t, and that no capital letter ever began a sentence.

Remedy for Mildew. Articles that are mildewed should be boiled in buttermilk, this method being more satisfactory than soaking in cold buttermilk. The same process will effectively bleach materials that have grown yellow from lack of use. Rinse well in warm water afterward and hang in the sun.—Good Housekeeping.

Carefully Considered Statement. "You are the greatest rascal I ever saw in my life," said the severe citizen. "Well," replied Modding Pete, "maybe you ain't seen so very much or lived so very long."

Those Undesired Wrinkles. An habitual expression of inquiry is to blame for permanent lines across the forehead. Then there is another muscle whose office is to draw down the eyebrows. It does its piece of work—and what we speak of is a frown. The permanency of this expression is not in keeping with a happy nature, and is one of the least desired lines.

Poor Pool. A New York man has paid $245 for the MS. of a parody of "The Raven." This, also, would greatly amuse Poe if he could know about it.

But He Got the Mink. Caspar Robling, a farmer and chicken raiser near Bloomfield, N. J., is beyond doubt a lucky man. For some time he had been missing chickens and the other day one of his prize-winning roosters was gone. Vowing vengeance, Robling armed himself with a loaded shotgun and went in ambush for the depredator of his poultry yard. After waiting in vain for several hours he saw a neighbor's dog near the chicken coop. He started in such haste to pursue the dog that he tripped and fell. The shotgun was discharged and several of the shots entered Robling's hand. As he arose to his feet he saw lying in front of him a dead mink, who had been feeding on the prize rooster and was killed by the accidental discharge of Robling's gun.

The Naturally Perfect Figure needs a certain type of corset to guard perfection from "going off."

The too solid figure needs another type to obtain the correct lines. The too slender figure requires still another type to simulate naturally elegant lines. All these types and many others are included in the C/B a la Spirite corsets.

COMMISSION PLAN OF GOVERNMENT.

That sentiment has radically changed since an effort was made to secure the commission plan of government is not a question of doubt. The mayor and some of the aldermen favor it and not a day passes but that men are in the office urging that something be done to start the movement.

One man who opposed the plan before, and who was one of twenty-five men to give $5.00 each to defeat it, now favors it, and said today that twenty-four of the twenty-five men mentioned were, with him, ready to support it.

Evidently all that is necessary is for someone to start the movement. The Gazette has hesitated to do this, for the reason that the paper met with defeat before, and also because some people seem possessed with the insane notion that the paper is trying to run things.

This spirit has cropped out during the past two weeks in the relief work for the storm sufferers, so generously shared by everybody, and simply because the paper, having the facilities for publicity, started the campaign which met with such generous response.

Some people talk about the fund raised as the "Gazette fund," while it is nothing of the kind. The money has passed through the Gazette's hands for the convenience of subscribers, and the published report every day is the easiest kind of a receipt. The money has been deposited, as fast as received, and placed to the credit of the county committee, and every dollar paid out has been authorized by from four to ten members of this committee.

The supply station was opened at the Gazette office for the convenience of the public, and when more room and help was needed, generous-hearted people provided the present depot, and the same kind of people volunteered to handle the work. The county committee has been in charge of the funds and supplies ever since that committee was organized, and will continue in charge as long as either funds or supplies are on hand to distribute. This is a plain statement of plain facts, for the benefit of critics, and to disabuse the minds of any who may think that the Gazette is trying to run things.

But about the commission plan of government. If half a dozen good men will volunteer to circulate the blanks, calling for an election, the paper will furnish the blanks, and back the movement, for all it is worth. There is time enough, if the work is done soon, to change the form of government next spring, providing the people decide that they want it. There is no argument that will hold water against this improved form of municipal government, and it is the first step along the lines of practical reform. Every preacher, every church, and every taxpayer should favor it. What it is doing for Appleton and other cities, it will do for Janesville.

Shall we try it?

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The railroads of the country have been economizing so long that necessity now forces them into the market as liberal buyers to replace worn-out equipment. As a result the steel mills of the country are again busy, and this means activity all along the line.

The merchants have pursued much the same policy and are now forced into the market to replace replenished stocks. With plenty of money to do business with, and a disposition on the part of the people to spend it, there is no reason why prosperity should not continue.

Henry Clow, the New York banker, has this to offer concerning the political situation:

"A week hence congress will open and the country must be prepared for shocks from proposed radical legislation. The presidential campaign has been prematurely begun. It is fairly under way. Sensational attacks must be expected for political effect. They should be regarded, however, with reserve and a recollection of the fact that the conservative element often rests in the background until the final struggle, when it usually asserts its sobering influence.

Recent events show a wholesome change in public opinion from extreme radicalism and irrational progressivism. The people are getting tired of agitation, and there is less danger today of extreme political action than at any time for many years.

This is largely because the anti-trust crusade has passed the crisis. The worst was known last summer when the supreme court decisions were issued concerning the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases.

"Since then big business has been slowly recovering confidence although often seriously displeased and discomfited by interference with former plans and methods. All that is necessary now is for business to adjust itself to the clear will of the people which is to keep open the door of opportunity. We may have to pass through a period of reconstruction in legislation affecting corporations.

This unfortunately means more or less uncertainty. At the moment the air is thick with visionary proposals and there are no indications at the moment of what direction new legislation will take.

A course of hearings is now going on before the Senate committee at Washington, but no time can yet be taken upon its probable findings. After all, we had better let the Sherman law alone, and try it out thoroughly before any changes are attempted. New legislation will only increase confusion, and throw away all the work of the supreme court in reading reason and justice to the law as it now stands. The country has probably been saved by this Sherman law from a political and social upheaval which would surely have followed at no distant date under a further concentration of capital and monopoly.

The gravity of the danger which we have escaped is not sufficiently appreciated, and for this the country should be devoutly grateful. To seek repeal of that law is absolutely futile.

The relief committee made a second tour of the western cyclone district yesterday, and were confirmed in the belief that every dollar that can be secured will be needed to help these unfortunate people through the winter. In some places work is being done to clear up the wreckage, while in others the people have not yet recovered from the shock, and nothing has been done. There is no more need for clothing, but money will be needed for months to come.

The National League for Medical Freedom now has a membership of 200,000, and its influence is already being felt for good. The doctrine is taught that every man has a right to choose his own school of healing and that this right should be protected. The principle is sound, and is bound to win. The prevention of disease is considered more important today than the cure, and medicine is not a prominent factor.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BILL.
I've got an old cat and his name is BILL.

A gentleman cat is he.
A soldier of fortune he was until.

He listened himself on me.
He reached my home in the still night.

Prepared for a frolic or a fight.
Announcing himself with all his might.

By yelling in Swedish glee.
His fur was worn and his hide shone through.

Full many a scar had he,
And from a fancier's point of view
Was not very much to see.

No one seemed to ruffle him a bit.
Who slighted to seemed proud of it.
With all of his faults I must admit
He certainly stuck to me.

His claim to fame was a tender voice
With which he could hit high "C."
He sang to the lady of his choice
And never got off his toy.

Each night at nine on the backyard fence
The musical score would commence

The neighbors regardless of expense
Bombarded the company.

A pair of shoes and a mantle clock,
A Japanese paper weight,
A walking stick and a fancy crock,
And nearly a whole gas grate.

A pointed rail and a statuette,
Or Dickelroy and a bourette,
A jardiniere and a bourette,
We found by the backyard gate.

Each night that his voice in rapture soared
He drew everything his way;
We knew he was earning well his board,
By singing till break of day.

We've picked up enough to stock a store,
We've things that we never had before.
They keep on coming and one thing more,
That Bill cut is going to stay.

CANDIDATE FOR THE ANANIAS CLUB.

A correspondent sends in the following absolutely true story of rural life:

"William Wheeler claims the distinction of having the champion egg-brooding hen in Ohio. Last week the hen broke all previous records, states Wheeler, when she laid eight eggs in one day. This is how the hen was inveigled into the egg-laying race. A nest with a false bottom was placed at the hen's disposal. Each time she laid an egg Wheeler pulled a string which in turn pulled a slide allowing the egg to drop from view. The hen would look around for the egg for a moment, further stated Wheeler, and not finding it would lay another. The trick worked beautifully until the eighth egg, when the hen, becoming disgusted jumped from the nest, catching as if from anger."

IRRESISTIBLE IMPULSES.

To run your finger along the edge of a knife blade before sharpening it is a good thing.

To sneeze right in the middle of the most exciting part of the drama, to look into the collection plate and see how much it contains.

To hold your palm over a hot air register to see if there is any heat coming up.

To size up your neighbor's order of meat in the hotel to see if it is any larger than your own.

To pick out a cigar that has not white sand spots on it.

To pull a roller towel around three or four times before using it.

To try and scrape acquaintance with the railroad conductor.

To put salt on your food whether it needs it or not.

To ask your neighbor how much his salary is.

To kick the cat when anything goes wrong at home.

To make some perfectly foolish remark to the bride and groom.

To count the carriages in a funeral procession.

Once upon a time a person made a famous remark that nothing is impossible. Here are some things that person never tried to do.

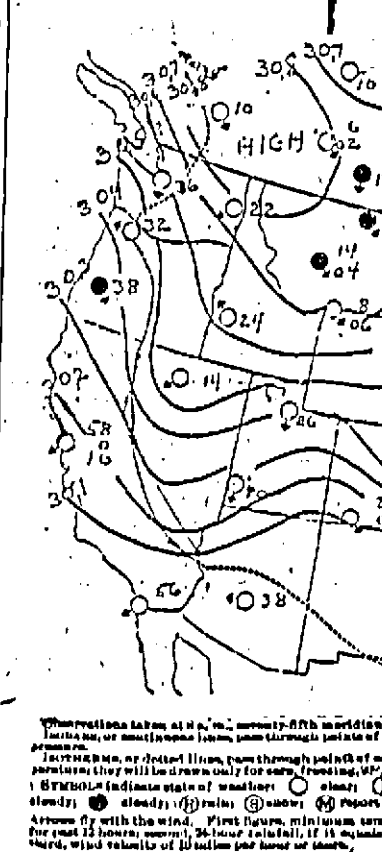

He never tried to convince his wife that she didn't need a new hat.

He never tried to cut a pane of glass with a 10-cent glass-cutter.

He never tried to unscrew the top from a glass fruit jar with his bare hands.

He never tried to look dignified in a celluloid collar.

Popularity is like some of the other good things of life, the one who seeks it seldom finds it. However, a hint is that it follows respect. College study is more deceptive than school work. WINNERS OF PRIZE CORN CONTEST ARE MADE BY JUDGES

MRS. MARY CONNELL CARRIES OFF FIRST HONORS CLARA GRANGER SECOND AND MRS. ALBERT ELLIS THIRD.

WAS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Saturday Night Marked End of the Made in Janesville Week at the West Side Rink.

Made in Janesville week proved to be a most successful affair. From point of number in attendance, quality of the exhibits and general interest shown, the big Industrial Show at the West Side rink which closed Saturday night was a success.
Interest seemed to center on the corn growing contest. The judges counted the corn yesterday afternoon and found that there was a total of 44,099 kernels in the big glass jar. The first prize of $25.00 was awarded to Mrs. Mary Connell of 216 Lincoln avenue, her guess being 44,080. The second prize of $15.00 went to Miss Clara Granger, 1115 Ruger avenue, her guess being 44,099 and the third prize of $10.00 went to Mrs. Albert Ellis of 431 Williams street her guess being 44,100. The winners of these prizes can obtain the money by calling at the office of secretary Lane of the Industrial and Commercial club in the Jackson block.

There were thousands of guests registered, some ranging into the millions of kernels and the others in were in the thirty thousands and upwards. The contest proved most popular and the task of counting the corn and ascertaining the guessing kept five persons busy all Sunday afternoon so that the announcement might be made today.
It is roughly estimated that fully thirty-five thousand persons visited the exhibit during the week. Many were from out of town and from the exhibit and the affair promises to become an annual affair. Much credit is due Mr. Lane for the manner in which it was handled and the completeness of all details.

WISCONSIN TURKEYS GO TO THE WALDORF

Ed. Bingham of Koshkonong Shipped Six Thousand Birds on Saturday Last.

Diners at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York City on Thanksgiving day will eat Wisconsin turkeys. Edward Bingham of Koshkonong, on Saturday last, shipped six thousand turkeys to New York, a total weight of something like 72,000 pounds in all. The birds were packed, dry packed, in barrels and shipped via the American Express company, twenty-five hundred from Koshkonong to New York City. They had been purchased by Mr. Bingham throughout Rock, Dane, Jefferson and Walworth counties and were the pick of the district. Added from the turkeys Mr. Bingham ships five cases of fresh Wisconsin eggs to the same hotel every day.

On Friday evening last, Mr. Bingham was host at a turkey dinner given at Whitewater. Frank Mount and William Riquinos of this city were among the guests.

CARD OF THANKS.
We hereby wish to express our most sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the assistance and kindness and for the floral offerings at the death of our son and brother, MRS. MULCAHNE and FAMILY.

In less than a month after his publication in England Noyes's book, describing his new system of cooking in paper bags, had sold over 60,000 copies and the supply of paper bags, owing to the immediate and unforeseen demand had become exhausted. American housewives have the opportunity of learning all about the new system of new cookery through The Chicago Daily News, which is publishing descriptive articles and recipes every day. In this connection it is interesting to note the opinion of the paper expressed by Mr. Hugh Evan Smith, of London, on his recent visit to this country when, speaking of The Chicago Daily News, he characterized it as "one of the most marvelous productions of the country." More people in Chicago read The Chicago Daily News than read any other Chicago newspaper.

PICTURES NOW GOOD AT ORPHEUM THEATER
Saturday evening a slight mechanical derangement of the projecting apparatus, caused our pictures to be slightly blurred. The mechanism has been corrected since and the pictures are very clear now.
The Orpheum Theater is now under new management, Mr. H. F. Huskins, an old Janesville resident conducting it. Mr. Huskins started the first nickel theater in Janesville.

WILL OSMOND PLEADS GUILTY TO ROBBERY OF HANUSKA SALOON

Given Sentence of Thirty Days' Imprisonment in Jail—Changes Plea in Self Defense.

Will Osmond pleaded guilty in the municipal court this morning to a charge of stealing five dollars in currency from the cash register of the Tony Hanuska saloon on the Corn Exchange and was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment in the county jail in default of a fine of $50 and costs. He first entered a plea of not guilty and was removed to a cell to await his trial which was set for two o'clock this afternoon, but after a few minutes of reflection decided to change his plea and take sentence.

Osmond could have been held for trial on a charge of burglary, the minimum sentence for which is a year in state's prison, but Mr. Hanuska did not wish to make such a grave charge; the family of the defendant made a fearful intercession, and it was finally decided not to enter it.

Osmond was caught by Policeman Morrissey at three-thirty o'clock yesterday morning in the act of robbing the cash register in the Hanuska saloon. He had gained entrance by breaking a window in the rear and it was the recently broken window building, which led the officer to enter the place.

Judge Elford told Osmond, in giving sentence, that he had been dealt with very leniently. He advised him to quit drinking and cease his bad conduct or more serious penalties would be imposed upon him in the future.

Articles Filed—Articles of Incorporation for the Dupke Decorating Company of Beloit, were filed at the office of the register of deeds today. The company is capitalized at $12,000. The incorporators are E. W. Dupke, Fred Booth and Hans Thomsen.

Pappas Trial Postponed: The trial of the State versus Jake Pappas, alleged to have kept slot machines on his premises in violation of law has been postponed until next Monday on the motion of the attorney for the defendant. The trial was to have been held at ten o'clock this morning.

Term Will End: The first term of the school year will end Wednesday. The high school students will take their examinations on Tuesday and Wednesday.

GOLDEN EAGLE GETS THE BARGAIN AWARD

Tempting Shoe Offer of This Store Wins First Place by Decision of Committee Last Tuesday.

The Golden Eagle was awarded the first place in the Gazette's Best Bargain page last Tuesday, their offer being ladies' gun metal boots, all sizes and widths, short vamp, with a variety of heels, for $1.98. The committee consisted of three ladies from the Catholic Order of Foresters. The bargain that was offered by the Golden Eagle was one which was deserving of the highest consideration and proved a most appealing one.

Although the offer was one of merit and was deserving of the first place there were others of such an appealing nature that it was only with difficulty that the ladies arrived at their decision. The committee which will judge of the relative merits of the bargain offers of this week, appearing tonight on the Bargain Page, will consist of three ladies from the Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church.

More people than ever are availing themselves of the money saving opportunities offered them on the page every week and it is now read industriously every Monday night by many of the economists. There is always something there that will appeal to you.

We Save The Squeal

In Making RABB'S FARMER'S SAUSAGE

For several years past I have killed the hogs I raised, worked them up, and sold the product in neighboring villages. One would buy and eat and recommend it to a friend, who would do likewise. Perhaps a friend from another state would eat at his table, and he would order it, and in this way I have secured customers scattered over the country from New York to North Dakota, and from Minnesota to Texas, until the business has outgrown the farm, and I must buy hogs from neighboring farmers. In this way I am able to select the finest spring pigs (and I kill none other). They have not passed through a R. R. stockyard nor been bruised or injured in a car, consequently are in the best possible condition for slaughtering, which is done in the most humane way possible, a good marksman shooting the hogs with a .22 calibre rifle. This is how we save the Squeal.

Heretofore we have done all the work, except slaughtering, in the basement of our farmhouse, but the demand for our Sausage has been so urgent that in November, 1910, we built a shop near the house, where the work can be done more conveniently and more economically.

GREAT PRIZE CAMPAIGN ENTERING FIFTH WEEK

Over Half Over--Opportunity Time Now
In Force--Subscriptions Easy to Obtain

Volunteers have been writing on the subject, "Opportunity." It is the most pertinent word that enters into the complex existence of present day Americans. It means everything or it means nothing, just as it is handled by different individuals. One person will see an opportunity where another will see a hindrance. It is something that has been hammered into an axiom that it "knocks once at every man's door," while others maintain that the dawning of each day brings a fresh knock. Most of us claim that it has passed us by, or we were not at home when it called.

Thirteen ladies are going to make this campaign their opportunity to gain a rich reward or some cash commissions for a little bit of pleasant work among their friends and neighbors. Any day this week will be a good time to get started, but the best day of all is TODAY. While there is plenty of time to become active and win, yet time is always valuable and a day lost is gone forever. There is no moment like the present one. The person who will not execute his resolutions while they are fresh upon him can have very little hope for them afterward. They will be lost in the hurry of every-day affairs.

Some one who evidently spoke from bitter experience has said: "The whole summer of activity will not be long enough to bring to maturity the fruit of delayed action." This is worth considerable thought by those who are considering becoming active in this campaign, as well as by those who have entered and have begun an active campaign for votes. The person who acts promptly, even though he makes an occasional mistake, will succeed in the long run where the procrastinator always fails.

Don't let the impression that this campaign is growing old. It is not. It is still in the exciting stage. If you have been thinking of starting, don't delay. Do it now. Make this your opportunity.

Correct Time Flash--to Sea.

Since the wireless method of sending messages has been perfected it is possible to flash the correct time each day to vessels far out at sea. The latest wireless station in the world is in the Eiffel tower in the city of Paris and from this and a number of other land stations throughout the globe the time is sent at noon, midnight and at eight in the morning and evening. Thus the officers of vessels in a great part of the earth's great waterways do not have to depend for their reckonings on the correctness of their chronometers. This is a step forward, and one of the many made possible by the wonderful wireless. We do not know what to expect next.

Canada Has a London.

As to the reproduction of London place-names elsewhere, the city of London in Canada is far and away the most profile example. Not only is it situated in the county of Middlesex and built on the banks of the Thames, but all the historic localities of old London--Pall Mall, Charing Cross, Cheapside, the Strand, etc.--have been appropriated in the naming of the town. Handlo, Australia also has a Pall Mall and a Charing Cross, and a large picture of the junction of the two is now on view in the window of the agent general for Victoria on the "Island site" in the Strand.

Restoring Burnt Steel.

The following process will restore burnt steel. Mix well together four pounds of fine white sand, half a pound of sal ammoniac, a quarter of a pound of copperas, and half a pound of resin, all pulverized. When the steel is hot, sprinkle with this mixture and allow to cool. This process will restore any burnt steel.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"If wishes were horses," asserts the Philosopher of Folly, "huggers would go around asking for automobiles."

Concerning

It's the Contents, not the Bottle, That Must be Considered. And to be sure of that contents you must always insist on our "Perfect Pasteurized" Milk.

Nearly all bottled milk is sold in the same shaped containers--that's because a certain style of bottle has become standard--not so with the contents.

When you buy a bottle of milk insist on its being our "Perfect Pasteurized"--Identify it by the label on the cap, not by the shape of the bottle and you can depend on its being as perfect milk as is possible to produce for general distribution.

"Perfect Pasteurization" makes our milk free from harmful elements. The milk is heated to a temperature of 145 degrees F. and held there for thirty minutes, then rapidly cooled--bottled and capped automatically--at no time being exposed to the atmosphere or human touch.

"Perfect Pasteurized" is the only milk sold in Janesville which is subjected to such a rigid course of hygiene.

You'll like it if you try it--don't delay--order today--our wagons insure prompt delivery everywhere.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the food, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning--a pleasant box from any drug store will keep you into the family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children--their little bodies need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

with the people through her many acts of charity.

Limitations of Goodness.
Goodness makes a great mistake when, in its self-satisfaction, it takes no pains to please. An angel wouldn't be sweet with her hair uncombed or her robe crumpled.

Trade in Tasmanian Apples.
As many as 124,000 boxes of Tasmanian apples have arrived in a year in England in perfect condition.

Well Worth It.

Sir James Critchton Browne tells a new story of the railway tunnel. A friend of his once traveled in a first-class carriage, when they were not so well lit as today, with a newly married couple. On emerging from a long tunnel they "were very, much in love," and "to minimize the confusion" (this own confusion, presumably) "the superficial third party said: 'This tunnel cost £100,000.' To this the bridegroom replied: 'It was well worth the money.'--Sketch."

of Meats when COOKED and

CASSEROLE

EVERY MODERN housewife knows that Meats, Vegetables,

Fowl and Oysters are improved 100% in the quality if cooked in a Casserole. She also knows that it saves labor and heat. Poisoning never occurs from food cooked in a Casserole. It is the most economical method of cooking. It is the simplest method of preparing food. All Casseroles cooked food retains the flavor--oil and essence that nature intended us to eat but which escapes in the steam or open air from ordinary cooking utensils. Every writer for Household Magazine recommends the use of the Casserole. Sunday papers print Casserole receipts. The Casserole has been used by the German, French, English and Swedish housewife for hundreds of years. This family size (five pints) has always sold at $5.00 to $10.00. We have arranged with the Pottery direct and will put on sale the Genuine Mounted Casserole like above cut for $3.00. If you wish a Wedding, Birthday, Christmas or Anniversary present buy one of these $6.00 Casseroles for $3.00. They certainly look like $10.00 value.

By making a deposit now on one we will reserve it for Christmas. A handsome Casserole Cook Book FREE with each outfit.

Do not think your boy is a bad boy because he wants his way.

The forceful man wants his way—and gets it. If he has a will of his own the proper way to manage him is through his reason and his affections, but—Never by force!

Do not try to "break his will." He will need all his surplus will power later on in life. When you break his will you break his manhood. Even should you succeed apparently in coercing him you cannot be sure he is "conquered." He may be deceiving you in his seeming acquiescence. And deception on his part tends to hurt his character.

It is no easy task, this undertaking to manage a high strung boy. But it is worth while! Mothers usually succeed better in such a matter than fathers. The father may chastise and browbeat the lad into submission. He may get the promise of obedience or sullen acquiescence, which has no lasting effect, but—

If the mother knows! She appeals to the best that is in the boy—his affection for her, his manliness. And that appeal is the only effective method of controlling a human spirit.

Utilize the boy's obstinacy. It will make a man of him. We are only just beginning to appreciate the tremendously effective force of that does things. And if the will power is to do things it must have its way. It may be guided and directed in proper channels, but coerced—Never!

Mrs. Ella Frary Formerly of Oregon, Called by Death—Buried At Oregon.

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reporter and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most today and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking; itself and also the question—HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE

for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargain."

42 Merchants Have Responded— some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best" your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also, because those announcements from every point of view are bound to make

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

Scientifically Securing Greater Efficiency in Work.

SCIENCE has come forward with a most efficient help for securing better results, than has been accomplished in the past, from those who work.

No longer need the mistress of the house abjure Bridget to hurry, nor work herself into a state of irritation because of the maid's slowness. Without a word, she can speed her up, until Bridget or Mary, or whoever she is will be going at a quickstep and handling her tasks with surprising efficiency. She may wonder herself just what is the matter with her. But she won't be able to stop.

The dressmaker with a workroom full of slow, indifferent girls can in the same silent, scientific fashion spur them on, until needles are flashing, and the girls, in high spirits, are putting forth their very best energies.

The same effect can be secured in an office. In fact, there are few places where this silent aid to efficiency cannot be employed. So far, it has been used only in reference to school children, but now that its ability has been proven, employers will no doubt take advantage of it for getting work out of employees; especially as it is much more certain in its results, and far pleasanter than the usual method of scolding or fault-finding.

For, this new and scientific method is no more or less than electrifying the atmosphere. Experiments have been made upon school children with most gratifying results, and the world at large is now ready to take advantage of what has been demonstrated.

The walls and ceiling of the school-room, where the experiment was tried, were lined with a coil of wire through which a high electric current was passed. The children were thus really in the centre of a magnetized coil. At the end of six months, they showed a most gratifying increase in height and weight and mental proficiency. They worked with unusual alacrity and spirit. The teachers too showed the good effect of working in this electrically charged atmosphere.

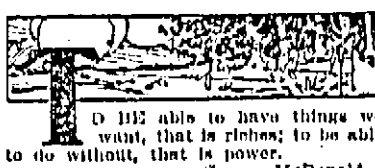

So the thing to do now is to connect electric coils in the kitchen, and so surcharge Bridget that she will sprint around at an amazing gait, and cook with a skill she never before knew. She may say to herself "Shure, it's amazin' queer, the way I feel like work." But she will be unable to resist the spell.

Even the office boy, in an office so charged, will fly about in a way almost to cause heart failure from the shock of it, to those unaware of the cause.

Science is coming to our aid in the solving of perplexing problems in ways undreamed of. In this simple device of coils and currents may lie the solution of the maid question. And it may settle many other problems now disturbing us. At any rate, it shows that help can come from unexpected quarters. And so we can go forward upon the difficult path of life with serene faith, feeling assured that out from the unknown will come messengers with help to assist us over the rough places in the road.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

HOLIDAY COOKERY.

The time will soon be here when it will be necessary for us to look up the old family recipes and prepare for the festive holiday season.

Fruit cakes may be made weeks before hand and are better for their age.

Fruit Cake.—Take two pounds of raisins, a pound of currants, half a pound of citron, four cups of brown sugar, two cups of butter, a cup of molasses, eight eggs, two teaspoonsful of soda, a half cup of grape juice, five cups of flour, the grated rind of a lemon, two teaspoonsful of cinnamon, a teaspoon of cloves, and also one of nutmeg. Beat the eggs and add the flour last giving a thorough beating. Bake in a slow oven for the first hour and a quarter then increase the heat to brown the cake.

Fruit Wafers.—Take a cup each of raisins, dates, figs and nuts put through a meat chopper. Work and mix together with a little lemon juice, then roll out on a board dusted with powdered sugar. Cut in domes and pack in powdered sugar in boxes with waxed paper between.

White Fruit Cake.—Take a cup of sugar, three tablespoonsful of butter, half a cup of milk, one and three-fourths cups of flour, the whites of three eggs, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, half a cup of shredded almonds, one cup of shredded citron, half a cup of raisins, half a cup of shredded orange peel chopped very fine. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour then increase the heat to brown the outside. This cake is best three weeks old.

Orange Ice-cream.—Take the rind of half and the juice of a whole orange, fill the cup with hot water, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice, two tablespoonsful of cornstarch, pinch of salt, the yolks of two eggs, a third of a cup of sugar and a tablespoon of butter. Cook until smooth and the starch is well cooked. When cool spread on the cake for filling. For the icing soak the grated rind of a large orange in three tablespoonsful of lemon juice, squeeze through muslin and add powdered sugar to the juice until thick enough to spread.

Why Men Surrender.

Women as frequently dominate men by the capacity for being disagreeable as they do by their power of charm. For the majority of men, some of them because the obligation to fight their own sex in the perpetual struggle for existence leaves them only tired faculties wherewith to meet the other, pursue in their dealings with women a peace-at-any-price policy. It thus happens that a woman who possesses a talent for being ungenerously disagreeable is able to keep her mankind in a chronic state of meek surrender.—The Matting of Anthea.

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake
One cup butter; 2 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoonful rose water; 3 1/4 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

Note.—The cake is a large one and sells at Women's Exchanges for $1.50.

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake
Three cups granulated sugar; 1 cup boiling water; whites of 3 eggs; 1 cup soft butter; 1 cup chopped almonds; 1/2 cup oil of this cake.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

The K C Cook's Book contains ninety just such delicious recipes—bread, molasses, cakes and pastry. You can secure a copy free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAMES M. CO., Chicago. Small cans do not contain Mrs. C. Book certificate.

FANCY SUIT OF BROADCLOTH.

New York City.—After all there is nothing more generally useful than broadcloth, especially for costumes worn, for afternoon and semi-dress wear. It makes up extremely well in the now clinging fashions as the suit shown in the illustration demonstrates.

This rather elaborate calling costume was of a soft mode-colored chiffon broadcloth combined with velvet a bit darker, about the shade of moleskin, with black plush and black Hercules braid as a note of contrast. The deep square, side, revers and sailor collar were of black plush edged with Hercules braid. A little yoke of the velvet finished the neck.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Buying and Stuffing the Turkey.
Crispy Crust and Rich Gravy.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

While an eight pound turkey is as large as most small families can dispose of many cooks say that a turkey must weigh at least twelve pounds to acquire the finest flavor. It must at any rate be young and the inexperienced buyer is advised to look with suspicion on one that is yellow fat and has hard spurs and rough legs. But if it is a "blush" that smooth legs and scarcely perceptible spurs it will doubtless be young. If the skin breaks easily when pressed with the finger nail it is young and tender.

Have the tendons drawn from the legs at the market and see that the crop and windpipe are drawn through the neck and not through an unightly gash in the breast. Also be sure to have the lungs taken out for these are often overlooked. They lie in cavities next to the back bone. The first thing to do in the kitchen towards preparing the turkey is to remove the pin feathers and this takes time but must not be slighted. Cut out the oil bag, slugs and rinse in cold water. Cut the neck off close to the body leaving the skin to fold over on the back. Rub the turkey inside and out with salt and pepper.

If much stuffing is liked prepare enough to fill both body and breast, otherwise make only enough for the breast. It is best not to fill more than two thirds full else the stuffing may be heavy or soggy. Fill the breast through the neck, turn down skin over on the back and pin down with a skewer. After filling the body pin together with a skewer.

One stuffing made after a recipe used many years is as follows: Melt one-half cup of butter in one-half cup of boiling water and mix with three cups of cracker crumbs mixed with a rounding teaspoon of poultry seasoning, or sage and summer savory mixed, one-half level teaspoon of salt and half as much pepper. Add one beaten egg and just enough water to make the mixture hold together.

Another much liked stuffing is made from the soft crumb of a stale loaf of bread. Pick it into bits, and rub half cup of melted butter and one-half cup of milk together, dust over it one-half cup of flour, and mix with three cups of cracker crumbs mixed with a rounding teaspoon of poultry seasoning, or sage and summer savory mixed, one-half level teaspoon of salt and half as much pepper. Add one beaten egg and just enough water to make the mixture hold together.

In front and a backward turning pointed flap of the same material fell over the plush side revers. The oddly cut skirt draped over an under skirt of velvet and the half length of sleeves were finished with cuffs of the same. Made colored embroidery buttons were a prominent feature of the trimmings, even running about the hem on the left side of the skirt.

With this suit the lady wore a hat of mode velvet, faced with black plush and trimmed with an ostrich feather in a lighter shade of mode and a shirley pink satin ribbon bow.

much. Oyster stuffing is not recommended for the oysters are overcooked by the long baking.

Truss the turkey by turning the wings back and tying the legs to the body. Put it on a rack in a dripping pan. Cream one-third cup of butter with one-quarter cup of flour and spread over the breast wings and thighs with a knife. This gives a light crispy crust. Dredge a little flour into the dripping pan but never add water to the pan as that tends to steam the turkey. Set the pan in a hot oven and as soon as the flour begins to brown have the turkey with one-quarter cup of butter melted in one cup of hot water. Lower the heat and baste every fifteen minutes with the liquid now in the pan. Allow three hours for baking a nine or ten pound turkey and four hours for one weighing fourteen pounds.

Cook the heart, gizzard and liver and neck in a quart of water until tender.

No good cook makes the gravy in the dripping pan if she cares to keep the pan in good condition or to have the right sort of gravy. I have heard old cooks say that they have always made gravy in the pan and so no reason for changing their method but their pans are doubtless warped from standing on top of the range and better gravy could be made than theirs. Take five tablespoons of the fat from the pan and put into a sauce pan with the same amount of flour. Rub smooth and add the contents of the pan and three cups of the stock in which the giblets were boiled. Season, cook five minutes and strain. For a giblet gravy chop giblets rather fine and add after straining the gravy.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

OUR FIRST AMERICAN ADMIRAL

By A. W. MACY.

At the beginning of the American Revolution England had the most powerful navy in the world, while the Americans had none at all. The Continental Congress appointed a naval committee, which purchased and fitted out eight vessels, at a total cost of $134,333. Esek Hopkins was appointed commander-in-chief. With these eight vessels, carrying 110 guns and manned by men without naval discipline, Commodore Hopkins was sent against the English fleet of 78 men-of-war, mounting 2,078 guns. Hopkins had only 40 guns throwing shot of nine pounds or more, while the British had at least 600 18-pounders and heavier guns. With this tiny outfit the American commander was directed to "attack, take and destroy" all the enemy's naval force he could find. Hopkins probably foresaw that he was doomed to failure, and maneuvered quite a little before attacking the enemy. For this he was court-martialed and dismissed. The total armament of the American navy reached 42 vessels during the Revolution, all of which were practically destroyed before the end of the war.

FOOD VALUE OF EGGS.

Eggs contain about 29 per cent of protein, about the same as in cheese, average meat and fish and a little more than in peas and beans and nuts. For a man doing hard labor beans or chick peas would be preferable to eggs as a source of protein from the point of both physiological and household economy, although none of these is necessary, since corn or whole wheat bread contains sufficient protein. The egg is easily digested and combines fairly well with toast, which supplies the carbohydrate and bulk, but with meat, beans and most other foods the egg is incompatible and its retention in the stomach long beyond the period of its digestion often leads to serious results. The yolk contains a large percentage of fat, easily assimilated, with all the mineral elements. The diet of Cornaro, whose life was prolonged from 45, when physicians said he must die, to 102, was almost exclusively grape juice and uncooked eggs, compatible and easily digested. The popular notion about eggs is that they are good because they are nutritious, but whether they are good or bad depends largely on what other foods are taken with them.

And the chances are that you would become an inveterate user of this exquisite beverage—which has twice the strength of the ordinary cocoa.

Thought for Today By MRS. ROBERT N. LAFOLLETTE

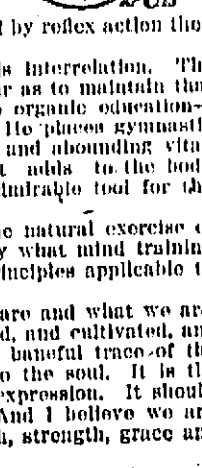

BODILY EDUCATION.

DURING the ten years I was associated with a physical culture league, composed of busy women of all ages, I was deeply impressed with the wonderful reaction of motion on the spirit. Freed from conventional restraint, they would all take the rhythmic gymnastics with a youthful joy and beauty that offset all birth-day records. Much of the aging of the body is due to lack of motor expression, and by reflex action the mind, too, goes stiff and old.

The new education, the new ethics recognizes this interrelation. The eminent educator, Mr. C. H. Henderson, goes so far as to maintain that all education preparatory to the high school should be organic education—gymnastic, music, manual training, drawing, language. He places gymnastics first—not athletic—but gymnastic, because good health and abounding vitality are the foundation of all excellence and because it adds to the body beauty, grace, and usefulness, and makes it a more admirable tool for the purposes of heart and mind.

The work of bodily education is not to supplement the natural exercise of life, but to prepare us for it. It should do for the body what mind training is supposed to do for the brain. It should teach the principles applicable to life's work and life's play, making both more joyful.

The body is the only means of expressing what we are and what we are. From this point of view, if no other, it should be trained, and cultivated, and made the most of. We must rid ourselves of the last baneful trace of the middle age idea that the body is a cloud, a hindrance to the soul. It is the only agent of the mind, the soul's only instrument of expression. It should be alive, animated, free, responsive to the inner self. And I believe we are never too old, as well as never too young, to add health, strength, grace and usefulness to the body.

tionalization and Tremendous Growth of United States.

"What the Yankee Has Done in A Century," was the subject of the address delivered last evening by the Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of the Cathedral Methodist church. His talk was one of the most interesting and timely ever given in this city. He outlined the remarkable history of our country, its wonderful growth materially and intellectually, and the trials which its God-fearing people had triumphantly passed through.

The Rev. Williams opened his address with Columbus and his efforts to carry out his much maligned ideas.
"Though regarded as insane, ridiculed, and even harshly mistreated, Columbus was able to interest Queen Isabella of Spain in his plans. She, out of her enthusiasm and imagination which saw more clearly than the most scientific of the time, the funda with which Columbus secured and made his tiny fleet.

But the trials of Columbus had but begun. For weeks and days he lived in terror of a mutinous crew, frightened almost mad by their voyage into an unknown and uncharted world and the prospect of wonderful countries to be reached he was barely able to prevent them from taking his life. Finally, when the hopes of all had reached the lowest ebb, a sailor's shout announced land in sight and for the first time a European set foot on the sands of the western hemisphere.

"Columbus returned home to an ungrateful country and died in poverty and with a broken heart, but from his humble and then unappreciated voyage and discovery which opened to the advance of the white man two new continents.

From Spain went forth, Pizarro and De Soto, from England, Raleigh, and Drake, from Portugal, Magellan, and from Holland, Henry Hudson, and from France Cartier and Marquette.
Soon began the period of actual settlement, slowly and painfully at first, but now coming and ever increasing in its flow. In 1607 Harrington came to Virginia, and three years later the Pilgrim fathers, so-called because of their wanderings, took shore on the rocky New England shore.

"But a few generations passed, and the thirteen colonies, reared under the restraints imposed by a proud and oppressive king, threw off their allegiance to the mother country and established a nation of their own.
This was not accomplished without contest which taxed the resources courage and patriotism of them all but with fearless leaders and an unshaken confidence in the justice of their cause, the armies of the king were vanquished.

"One more great trial was to test the fabric of government to the last strand united with the black blight upon its fair name removed.

"But we have much more than our romantic development to take pride in. We have poets, novelists, romantic statesmen, evangelists, who have world-wide fame. Whittaker, Longfellow and Bryant, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Lew Wallace, Wendell Phillips and Frances E. Willard, Jonathan Edwards and Dwight L. Moody, Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, and scores of others not recounted. We are disposed to look upon our poets as dreamers, as impractical, and ministering to the needs of the love-sick and a small literary coterie, but therein we err. Without them we would never have given the visions of inspiration and the tramp call to battle for right and for the oppressed.

"I am not the one to take great pride in huge navies and armies and look forward to the time when war will be looked upon as a relic of barbarism, not be thought of by a civilized nation, but it is to take measure for measure, the United States can put as many soldiers in the field as all of Europe if need be. Our territory is the greatest of any country in the world. France would hold our entire population and give them more elbow room than have the people of England. Our wealth is so huge that if a man in every generation beginning with Moses had counted for fifty years of his life counting would still be going on."

The speaker recounted many illustrations which in an illuminating manner gave his hearers a graphic idea of its tremendous resources, the source of the just pride of every American, and a reason for thanksgiving in an all-protecting God.

COOKS

Seeing fatuous faces!
Our kitchens in these modern times, are scenes of most un-tropical crimes; there must be ruined by the law, by being charred or undone, and bread is baked like paying bricks—we slice it up with saws and picks—and things are fried that should be stewed, and deadly kinds of dops are brewed. How often do you see a crowd whose cooking leaves you unfazed? I know a million damnable fair; they prance around in everywhere, and some can paint and some can sing, and some can waltz like everything, accomplishments they have to burn, but when for tempting grab 1 year, I couldn't call a girl by name who's equal to the cooking game.
The days at hand when suffering men must eat his dinner from a can. The girls embark in politics, and haven't time for kindred tricks, with trying pans and skilful tools, and that's why indigestion rules.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE NORTH AMERICAN INDIAN.

The North American Indian is the connecting link between barbarism and the sheath skin.

He sprang from Plymouth Rock
at the request of the Puritan Father and has been springing over since at about $1.25 per spring, with the result that he has become an overcharged with with coin of the realm and adverse tissue.

The Indian was never a producer of anything except meal tickets for the land agents and families that have to be listed on an adding machine. Several years ago numerous of our enterprising citizens found out that for a quart of whisky the Indian would deliver a warranty deed for 100 acres of land and throw in a handful of popovers for good measure, and this built up a flourishing industry, which has since been discouraged to some extent by increasing the seating capacity of our penitentiaries. The Indian has had enough land grabbed from make the Missouri river look like an 88-hole golf course. He is the context of whom history makes any record. The Indian doesn't go on the war path any longer except when the reservation whisky is too weak to out its way through a hog of malls. He is an ideal husband and father, but draws the line on turning the whelker or infusing the bar-nub. There are a great many worse citizens than the Indian, but most of them are practicing the lockstep under the watchful eye of the state.

rive in the present proportions it will be necessary to send them in two installments to Santa's residence at the

as they would all make together would make it impossible for him to read them and make the necessary preparations last a week.

The list may for receiving the letters at the Gazette office, Saturday, Dec. 16, will not be changed, however, and within the next few weeks there will be a large number of messages was living at Brixton Hill an old wombe derived from a knowledge of the Bible she made this remark: "I have

Scripture, 'Thine heart never won't fail-

Stopping Light Stops Decay

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light.
Schlitz is bottled in a brown bottle to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

In the Schlitz Brewery, some say, protection against impurity is carried to an absurd extreme. We don't think so.

We have adopted every idea, every invention to attain and preserve purity.

We scald every tub, keg and barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it. We wash every bottle four times by machinery. Even the air in which the beer is cooled is filtered.

It is ill with in glass enameled tanks. It cannot cause biliousness. It will not ferment in your stomach.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would

excellence coming and going in her face. Again and again he fixed his gaze before him as infantry, cavalry and artillery marched and pounded and rumbled past—in vain. Like a willful drunkard it returned to intoxicating itself with the sight of her eager beauty that made the scene for him only a splendid blur.

In Barbara, however, every nerve was thrilling to the sight. For the moment she had forgotten even the man beside her. As she watched the audacious outpouring of drilled power, tempered and restrained, yet so terribly alive in its cold virility, she was feeling a keen pang of sympathy that was almost pain. In this burning panorama she divined no shrinking, no dawning thing slaking with the every nerve was fatigued of ages, thrilling to the super-splendour of a remote race; not merely a tidal wave of intense virility, mobile and mercurial, lusting onward toward an indomitable unknown, but a splendid rebirth, a dazzling re-creation of old spirit in new form, a symbol concrete and vital, like the blaze of a beacon flaring a radiant verities.

She turned toward Daunt, her hand outstretched, her fingers on his arm, her lips opened. But she did not speak. Afterward she did not know what she had intended to say.

CHAPTER IX.

A SILENT UNDERSTANDING.

PHIL descended from his rickshaw at the Tokyo club and paid the coolie. The door was opened by a servile bellboy in livery. Phil tossed his hat on to the hall rack and entered. It was cool and pleasant inside, and a great bowl of China sat on the table beside the membership book. On the wall was a wire frame full of visitors' cards. He strode through the office and entered a large, glass inclosed piazza where a number of Japanese, some in foreign, some in native costume, were watching a game of Go. Two younger gentlemen were shaking dice at another table.

Frowning, Phil passed into the next room. Here his eye lightened. Sitting in a corner of one of the huge sofas which sank under his enormous weight was Dr. Hersonin. A little round table was before him on which sat a tall glass frosted with cracked ice.

"Sit down," said the expert. "How do you come to be in Tokyo? The review, I presume." He struck a call bell on the table and gave an order to the waiter.

Phil lit a cigarette. "No," he said, "I've come to stay for awhile."

"You haven't given up your bungalow on the bluff?" asked Hersonin quickly. There was an odd eagerness in his colorless face—a look of almost dread, which Phil, lighting his cigarette, did not see. It changed to relief as the other answered:

"No. Probably I shan't be here more than a few days."

The expert settled back in his seat. "You'll not find the hotel everything it should be, I'm afraid," he observed more casually.

"I'm not there," Phil answered. "I've got a little Japanese house."

"So! A menage a garçon, eh?" The big man held up his twinkling eyes to the light, and under cover of it his deep-set yellowish eyes darted a keen, delectable look at Phil's averted face. "Well," he went on, "how are your affairs? Has the stern brother appeared yet?"

Phil shifted uneasily. "No," he replied. "I expect him pretty soon, though." He drained the glass the boy had filled. "You've been tremendously kind, doctor," he went on hurriedly, "to lend me so much without the least bit of security."

"Pshaw!" said Hersonin. "Why shouldn't I?" He put his hand to the other's shoulder with a friendly gesture. "I only wish money could give me as much pleasure as it does you, my boy."

Two men had seated themselves in the next room. Through the open door came fragments of conversation, the gurgle of poured liquid and the bubbling hiss of filtrate mineral water. Hersonin lowered his voice. "You'll want a great thing if I let blood and imagination and zeal to enjoy. All it needs is the wherewithal to give its pleasures. After a time ago catches us, and what are luxuries then? Only things to make themselves a little less irksome."

Phil moved his glass on the table top in sullen circles. "But suppose one hasn't the wherewithal you talk of? What's the fun without money, even when you're young? I've never been able to discover it."

"Find the money," said Hersonin. "I wish some one would tell me how."

Hersonin's head turned toward the door. He sat suddenly rigid. It came to Phil that he was listening intently to the talk between the two men in the next room.

"I needn't point out—it was a measured voice, cold and incisive and deliberate—that when the American fleet came two years ago conditions were quite different. The cruise was a national tour de force; the visit to Japan was incidental. Besides, there was really no feeling then between the two nations. That was all a creation of the yellow press. But the coming of this European squadron today is a different thing. It is a season of general sensitiveness and distrust, and when the ships belong to a nation between which and Japan there is real and serious diplomatic tension—well, in my opinion the time is at best inopportune."

"Perhaps"—a younger voice was speaking now, less certain, less poised and a little hesitant—"perhaps the very danger makes for caution. People are particularly careful with matches when there's a lot of powder about."

"True so far as intention goes. But there is the possibility of some contretemps. You remember the case of the Ajax in the eighties. It was blown up in a friendly harbor—clearly enough by accident, at least so far as the other nation was concerned. But it was during a time of strain and hot blood, and you know how narrowly a great clash was averted. If war had followed regiments would have marched across the frontier shouting, 'Remember the Ajax!' As it was there was a panic in three hours. Solid securities fell to the lowest point in their history. The yellow press pounded down the market, and a few speculators on the short side made gigantic fortunes."

A moment's pause ensued. Hersonin's fingers were rigid. There seemed suddenly to Phil to be some significance between his silence and the conversation, as if he wished it to sink into his (Phil's) mind. The voice continued:

"What has happened once may happen again. What if one of those dreadnoughts, by whatever accident, should go down in this friendly harbor? It doesn't take a vivid imagination to picture the headlines next morning in the newspapers at home!"

But it was during a time of strain and hot blood, and you know how narrowly a great clash was averted. If war had followed regiments would have marched across the frontier shouting, 'Remember the Ajax!' As it was there was a panic in three hours. Solid securities fell to the lowest point in their history. The yellow press pounded down the market, and a few speculators on the short side made gigantic fortunes."

A moment's pause ensued. Hersonin's fingers were rigid. There seemed suddenly to Phil to be some significance between his silence and the conversation, as if he wished it to sink into his (Phil's) mind. The voice continued:

"What has happened once may happen again. What if one of those dreadnoughts, by whatever accident, should go down in this friendly harbor? It doesn't take a vivid imagination to picture the headlines next morning in the newspapers at home!"

Why We Shake Hands.

A writer in the New York Sun has unearthed the following explanation of a common custom:

How many of us, for instance, know why friends shake hands when they meet? The Chinese are said to shake their own hands in greeting, with an air of cordial delight. Why do people of the so-called civilized nations prefer to shake each other by the hand? We are told that it is an old Roman custom, spread by the Romans throughout the countries of their dominion. Shaking hands means, "You are my friend. Believe it for the excellent reason that if you were not I should draw my sword. And how could I draw my sword with my shield upon my left arm and my right hand firmly clasped in yours?" So when we shake hands we are merely saying in the pantomime of ancient Rome: "There is peace and good will between us, for our swords are in their scabbards."

Care of the Eyes.

If a woman has the slightest difficulty with her sight, she should lose no time in consulting an oculist. Nothing will bring undesirable crows' feet more quickly than straining the eyes, and local treatment to prevent the lines will be ineffective if the seat of the trouble is not attended to. It is far better to wear glasses when sewing and writing than to let the whole face have a drawn and aged look.

Of course, massaging about the corners of the eyes will make a tremendous improvement in a woman's appearance, but the work will be without results unless she does it regularly every night. Also, if she is trying to smooth away crows' feet, she must remember that stroking is not to be done so severely as to loosen the skin, which would cause bags, but merely that friction is to stimulate circulation, nourishing the skin tissues.

Economy of Nature.

"Nature knew what she was doing when she deprived fishes of a voice." "How do you make that out?" "What of a fish had to cackle over every egg it laid?"

Naturally.

"Beauty doctors are superficial men." "Why are they?" "Because they always take people at their face value."

Paving the Way.

At a political meeting a very enthusiastic German made a speech beginning like this: "My dear fellow citizens and fellow Germans, I don't want to say nothing about nobody, but look at dem Irish in de Tenth ward; vot have dey got? Paved streets! Vat vot have dey got? Mull Mull! Now, my fellow citizens and fellow Germans, vot I wish to say is dis: Coon, let us put our heads together and make a block pavement."—The Housekeeper.

Headache? It's Your Liver

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic is Needed.

Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the one substitute for dangerous calomel. They do all of calomel's work without any of its bad after effects.

There is no necessity, when you take Olive Tablets, of following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, sugar-coated, easy to take, and never gripes or causes weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disorder of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headache, etc.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles.

Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly.

"Every Little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." All druggists sell Olive Tablets in neat pocket packages. At 10c and 25c. Made by the Olive Tablet Company of Portsmouth, Ohio, or Columbus, Ohio. Dr. F. M. Edwards, President.

For Mouse Holes. To stop mouse holes, fill with common laundry soap and stick a few pins or sharp pointed wire nails through the soap.

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

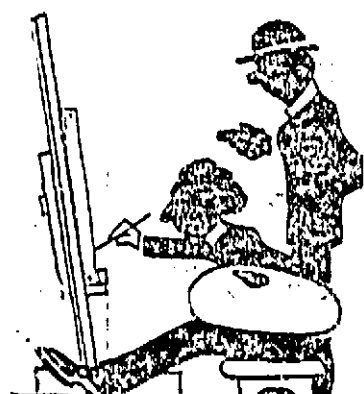

Unable to Answer.
At the courts a case concerning motor driving was being heard, when the chauffeur declared that while driving at forty miles an hour he could, if necessary, pull up in ten or twelve feet.

"Um!" said the judge.
Then the next witness—an expert—gave his evidence. Said his lordship: "If a motor car were traveling at forty miles an hour, and the brakes could be put on in such a manner as to stop it within ten or twelve feet, where would the driver go?"
"Depends very much on the sort of life he'd been living," said the expert.—T.H.D.

Careful Child.
"Is your little boy sick with anything?" asks the lady of the lady who had just moved in next door and who had asked him to come over and play with her little boy.
"No, indeed," she smiles. "Why?"
"Cause I've had my tonsils taken out and my adenoids removed and my appendix cut out and I been vaccinated against typhoid and I do hope I won't have to have anything done to me this year, so I can have a little bit of fun for a while."—Woman's World.

FORTY YEARS AGO

From the Janesville Gazette, November 27, 1871. The city authorities of Madison have ordered the removal of trees standing on the sidewalks. Madison is outgrowing its rural tastes and will in time be a city of appearance if not of size.

The mayor of Brooklyn has notified the mayor of Chicago that he has $25,000 for the needy of that city. Official figures in the late New York State elections show that Schrieber received 337,107 votes and Willers 308,214.

The Oshkosh Northwestern says: Friday morning of this week, the first arrival of freight from Milwaukee came in on the new Oshkosh and Milwaukee-Mississippi Railroad. Four or five carloads were received, and hereafter all Milwaukee freight for this city will come by this road. Passenger trains will be put on in a few days.

The river at La Crosse, closed yesterday and last night passengers from Southern Minnesota depot crossed on the ice in safety, with the exception of one or two who got into the water.

Frank Wolman's notion store on West Milwaukee street was the scene of an incident on Saturday evening, which was happily subdued before any great damage was done. Mrs. Wolman dropped a lamp with non-explosive liquid, which broke, setting fire to the fluid and communicating thence to her clothing, and to a number of wooden articles hanging near and in one of the show windows. By the prompt assistance of her husband, the flames were extinguished before any serious results followed. Mrs. Wolman was severely burned around and about the face and hands, and goods to the amount of about forty dollars were destroyed. No alarm was turned in.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McElroy entertained a few of their friends at the residence of Judge Conger on Saturday evening.

MR. & MRS. M'GRAW

GIANTS OFF FOR CUBA.
New York City, Nov.—A happy throng of baseball players and managers constituting the New York Giants and their wives have sailed for Cuba where they are to take a little enjoyable vacation and some exercise in a series of games arranged in and around Havana. One of the most enthusiastic of the party was Mrs. McGraw who accompanied her husband to the southern clime. The picture above was taken just as they were leaving New York City.

First Users of Tobacco.

The tendency now is to rob the North American Indian of the credit of having given to civilization the boon of tobacco. Some ascribe its origin to the Moors and Persians, others to the inhabitants of the Malay archipelago, and still others to the Arabs in general. There appears to be an Arabian word "sakara," meaning to smoke, from which our words cigar and cigarette may have been derived.

Surgical Operation on Raven.

A raven in the London zoological garden recently was operated on for cancer and provided with spectacles, fastened to its head with a sort of hood.

Where Courage is Shown.

It needs more courage to fight the bothers and the worries and the humdrum of life than to meet its great emergencies.

Rep at English Language.
Mr. Ruskin was once asked if it would not be well for the Welsh language to die out and be replaced by the English. "God forbid!" he replied. "The Welsh language is the language of music. There is no genius about the English language. The Scotch have got all the poetry and the Irish all the wit, and how the devil we got Shakespeare I do not know."

Juvenile Compositions.
I am by no means disposed to go so far as the historian of New England, John Gorton Palfrey, who, as I have been told, was wont to express the desire that an act of congress should be passed forbidding on pain of death any one under twenty-one years of age to write a sentence.—Professor Lounsbury in Harper's Magazine.
